GRIEF KILLS BRIDE OF RACE DRIVER

Dies Month After He is Victim of Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Mulford

A MONTH to a day after her daredevil husband, Alfred A. Mulford, met a tragic death in an automobile race at San Jose, Mrs. Lois Scott Mulford, former Ziegfeld Follies girl, died of grief at the Hollywood Hospital, last Monday. Mrs. Mulford was taken to the hospital from the home of her mother at 6744 Franklin Place in an unconscious condition, and died without recovering consciousness.

According to friends of the young couple, Mrs. Mulford was greatly affected by the death of her husband, a professional automobile racing drivyr, of only a few months, and from the moment she received the news she steadily declined in health and spirits, until she totally released her feeble grasp on life.

Mulford met Miss Scott within a few months after she had come to Hollywood from New York, and at a time when she was working in motion pictures. A whirlwind romance, which culminated in a marriage March 10 last, followed. The bride was known to the theatrical world not only through her connection with the Ziegfeld Follies, but through other engagements in New York as well.

Mulford was a dirt-track racer who was just coming into prominence at the time of his death. He was not a brother of Ralph Mulford, racing driver.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mulford were conducted at the Gates, Crane & Earl mortuary, Hollywood, Wednesday, and the body was laid at rest beside that of her husband in Hollywood Cemetery.

SIX INDICTED IN HUGE FRAUD

Weist and Schwartz in Net and Four Near Arrest; Plot to Mulct Investors Charged

Disclosing what is said by investigators of both the District Attorney's office and the office of Corporation Commission Daugherty to be a gigantic scheme to defraud prospective investors of large sums of money, an indictment was returned yesterday by the county grand jury charging six persons with conspiracy to obtain money by false pretenses.

The indictment names Harry C. Weist, local bond broker; Barney A. Schwartz, said to be head of the group involved; Larry Goldner, Norman Frankfort, W. A. Gray and Arthur Donlin, as defendants.

Weist and Schwarz were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Collins. The others, said to be salesmen, are expected to surrender to the authorities today. Weist and Schwarz were expected to make bail, which was reduced from $15,000 to $10,000 in the case of Schwarz, and to $5000 for Weist on the recommendation of the District Attorney's office. When the indictments were returned to Judge Hardy he fixed bail at $15,000 for each of the defendants.

The case was handled before the grand jury by Dep. Dist. Atty. Richardson.

JUNIOR PLAYERS SCORE TRIUMPH

Veterans at Sawtelle Pack House for "Times" Show

"Dixie Revue" by Children Wins Much Applause

Performance Given Disabled Men in Afternoon

With the old soldiers at Sawtelle packed to the roof in Memorial Hall, the Times Junior Players staged one of the biggest successes in their career with their Dixie Revue last night.

The night performance brought to a close a day of fun and satisfaction for the little players, for in the afternoon they gave a tabloid of their revue for the disabled veterans of the World War in Ward No. 10 at the hospital. The veterans, both young and old, indicated by their rounds of applause that the Dixie Revue, written by Aunt Dolly herself, is one of the best stunts the club has put across.

The show opened with a bang, the entire cast singing "Dixie." It brought a "breath of the Old South" right into the hall and put the veterans in a frame of mind ready to receive anything in the line of blackface comedy. Responding to the rounds of applause, the players came back with "Old Black Joe" in great shape.

REMAIN ON STAGE

There was something doing all the time, for Aunt Dolly arranged it so that the entire cast remained on the stage draped on soap boxes, packing crates and on the floor entrenched behind piles of ears of green corn for a realistic plantation touch.

The ensemble opening out of the way, the Heartbreakers Jazz Band hit the good old cake-walk strain and out stepped little Lorraine Platts and Jack Ellison with the dandiest cake walk you ever saw. The way they did it made the old-timers' feet fairly itch.

Martha Mejekore, who was the piece de resistance of the cast as the ole' mammy, sang "Pestigating Mommer," giving the boys a real taste of what was to follow.

Jessie Smellie put on her Swanee clog in southern style and was followed by the Title troupe with "A Riot of Fun." They almost had to call the cops to stop the riot. Rita Cummings got a good hand with her song and dance, "Caroline Days," as did Dorothy Farrel in "Dark Town in School."

Then came Jimmy Osborne, president of The Times Junior Club, and Vera Webster singing "Tying Apples on the Lilac Trees." It was the first time this pair had appeared together and they were so good that they will undoubtedly do their stuff together frequently in the future. Jimmy's voice and Vera's bird-like notes carried the old soldiers away. They clapped and whistled and thumped their canes on the floor for more.

Richard Webster followed with a violin solo that showed unusual talent for a lad of his age and was very well received. He then joined Benny Yost and Ebe Shaw in some "Old-Time Jazz." Benny, you should know, was the musical director of the whole show and his singing got a big hand.

A dainty touch was added to the performance when Lillian Gunther, dressed in the true style of the old-fashioned Southern belle and carrying a basket of flowers, put on her garden dance. There was a scramble among the old vets for the flowers she tossed to the audience. Mildred Title was very clever and got them all laughing with her "Ive Got a One-Time Two-Time Mommer." Lorraine Platts came out again and scored another hit with "I'm Gonna Slow Your Mammy Down." Rita Cummings tickled them with a song and dance, "Carolina Mammy."

BRINGS MEMORIES

Jimmy Osborne brought them down around his ears a second time with a solo about somebody's boy and there were lots of the gray heads in the crowd who were carried back by Jimmy's singing to the days of boys long ago.

Peggy Arentz and Elsie Webster, a cute little pair, are trotted out with a gesticulating song, "Ain't Gonna Rain No More," much to

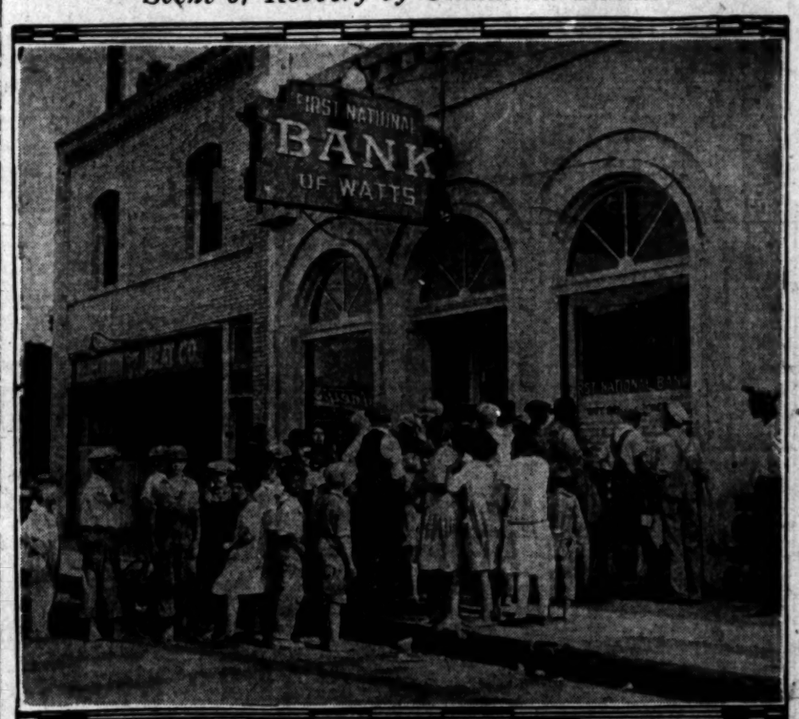
Scene of Robbery by Unmasked Bandit



FAKE FILM SCHOOL LAID TO QUARTET

Husband of Clara Phillips is Among Those for Whom Warrants Are Issued

The Screen Artists' Production Company, a moving-picture school situated in the Cosmos Arts Studio Building, 3700 Beverley Boulevard, and four of its officials, Armour L. Phillips, husband of Clara Phillips; U. M. Dailey, its president; Mrs. Ethel Jones, its secretary and treasurer and Otto Kyper, vice-president, were featured last night in the issuance of four bench warrants by Police Judge Pope charging the obtaining of money through fraudulent advertisements. At midnight the warrants had been served on Dailey and Mrs. Jones. They were held at the Central Police Station pending the arrival of the bondsmen.

The warrants followed complaints made to City Prosecutor J. M. Friedlander and Deputy Corporation Commissioner Edward F. Dishman by various "customers" of the concern, which is asserted to be an unrecorded common-law trust.

The specific complainant on whose affidavit the warrant was issued is Miss Vonceil Eslick, who avers herself to have been swindled by the concern.

That the investigation by the corporation commissioner's office is toward determining whether or not violations of the State Corporate Securities Act and of the State Labor Act have occurred was announced last week by Deputy Commissioner Dishman, who, in conjunction with the District Attorney's office, has been conducting an inquiry separate from that of Prosecutor Friedlander.

Evidence in the hands of both these officials, it was announced, is similar as to the procedure of the company.

Prospects were attracted by the insertion of innocently worded advertisements placed in the daily newspapers. One of these of last issue is as follows.

MOTION PICTURES

Wanted—People who wish to make the motion-picture business a profession. Must be neat and intelligent. Experience unnecessary. No employment agency. See casting director.

Screen Artists' Production Association, Cosmos Art Studio, 3700 Beverly Boulevard.

Answering the advertisement, Deputy Commissioner Dishman said, the prospect would be told that the concern was making a picture to be called "Ambition," and that there were still a few vacancies in the cast.

The prospect would then be asked to advance sums ranging from $50 to $500 for "tuition."

In addition Deputy Commissioner Dishman has samples of "beneficial interests," announced to be 5000 in number, which were "sold" to the pupils at various prices—in one case this being $50 a unit.

According to one complainant, those purchasing the "interests" were to be entitled to a 15 per cent share in the profits of the company.

At the time of the arrests, which were made at the studio last night, nearly a hundred pupils of the school were present. The majority of them were in various stages of make-up.

A partial list of the pupils of the concern, as obtained from records last night, includes H. E. Adams, 420 West Florence avenue; Leo Thalheimer, 1912 Berendo avenue; Joe Likens, 1140 Lodi Place; Mary Hughes, 136 South Bichel street; Charles S. Arnillo, 1136 Gordon street; Cecil Carmichel, 5013 Second avenue; Billy Youngflesh, 347 South Figueroa street; W. S. Bright, Norwalk; A. Shay, 2217 Juliet street; Frank E. Miller, 1157 East Fifty-sixth street; Lou Terrazas, 1432 Pleasant avenue; Mitchell Boureston, Hawthorne; Rosebud Maye, 2664 Roseview avenue and Mrs. Ben Shirrey, 162 West Sixty-sixth street. It was said that each of these will be asked to visit the prosecutor's office that their testimony may be taken before the trial.

MORS GEM PUZZLE GROWS

Two Caches of McCoy Fail to Yield Jewels Sought by Federal Agents; Others Found in Box

Federal authorities were no nearer a solution of the mystery surrounding thousands of dollars' worth of smuggled jewels of which Mrs. Teresa Mors is asserted to have had some knowledge, following the opening yesterday of a heretofore unlocated safety box taken out in the name of Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) and the examination of effects stored by McCoy in a Hollywood warehouse.

In the safety box at the Bank of Italy branch at 2684 West Pico, was found jewelry valued at tween $2000 and $3000, none of which is listed among the jewels sought by the Treasury Department agents here, in addition to papers belonging to McCoy and various trinkets

MORE GOODS SOUGHT

Examination of merchandise stored by McCoy, using the name Norman Stone, at the Premier Fireproof Storage Company in Hollywood, revealed approximately two dozen pieces of bric-a-brac, evidently removed from the Mors antique shop on West Seventh street by McCoy and Mrs. Mors some time ago. Employees of the warehouse, personally acquainted with McCoy, stated that Norman Stone and Norman Selby are the same person.

Records at the warehouse revealed that much of the goods stored in the place by McCoy had been removed before McCoy was lodged in jail charged with the murder of Mrs. Mors. It is believed that other goods is stored in a warehouse, which is to be investigated today.

In the safety-deposit box which was opened by Detective Ed King of the District Attorney's office in the presence of A. S. Evans of the United States Custom Service, Albert A. Mors and Mors's attorney, F. M. Andreani, the following articles were found:

JEWELRY FOUND

Two platinum guard rings, a gold mesh bag and a gold vanity case belonging to Mrs. Mors; a gold cigaret case belonging to Mors; a medal belonging to McCoy; a motion-picture contract involving McCoy and a film "Kidding Kid McCoy;" a packet of letters written by Mors to a relative by marriage of McCoy and the name of the warehouse where the bric-a-brac was found.

WATTS BANK IS HELD UP IN RUSE

Badge Bandit Tactics Used by Fake Investigator

Young Man Gets $9000 in Robbery He Predicted

Cashier and Aide Bound in First National Vault

A variation of the tactics of the badge bandit applied to bank robbery cost the First National Bank of Watts approximately $9000 in cash yesterday.

The hold-up man was about 27 years of age, who had been allowed to remain in or near the bank for three days on the strength of his statements that he had inside information from the Sheriff's office that a hold-up was to be staged. His prophecy that the bank would be robbed came true yesterday about 3 p.m., a few minutes before closing time, when he suddenly produced two pistols and covered two employees of the bank.

When the fake investigator became a bandit, P. N. Fox, cashier, was in the vault and H. F. Logan, assistant cashier, was drawing the blinds of the bank windows preparatory to closing the doors.

Brandishing the brace of pistols, the bandit ordered Fox to remain in the vault and directed Logan to enter the vault also. He then put one of his pistols in his pocket and tied the two men together by their wrists and ankles.

WARNS VICTIMS

During the time the gunman was tying the employees, which took about fifteen minutes, he talked to them in a low tone and cautioned them not to make an outbreak.

"I do not want to shoot anyone," he whispered, "all I want is the money. Keep still and you won't be hurt."

When the bandit had tied the two men he scooped up bills estimated at $9000 and stuffed them in his pockets. He started to close the vault door but stopped when Logan warned him such an act would set off a burglar alarm.

SUMMON POLICE

"The hell you say it would," the gunman said as he quickly loosened his grasp on the door.

He is believed to have escaped in an automobile with a companion, who was with him when he first appeared at the bank three days before. No one saw his departure, however.

About fifteen minutes was required for the two men to loosen their bonds. They called the Watts police who summoned Capts. Bell and Hotz of the Sheriff's office.

Armed with a good description of the bandit, the Sheriff's men began to work on clews which they believe will lead to his arrest. The gunman was described as being about 27 years of age, about 135 pounds in weight, medium height. He was wearing a tweed suit. He has dark hair, fair complexion and is said to have a peculiar gait.

DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST ATTORNEY DISMISSED

A suit for $5000 damages brought by Mr. and Mrs. Edward William Doepping, in which Montgomery Phister, an attorney, was named as one of the defendants, has been dismissed. The action was filed in January, 1923, and was based on alleged slanderous statements said to have been made during a divorce hearing between Frances B. and Allen Pickering, in which Phister was attorney for the defendant.

A letter from Phister to Mrs. Doepping states that he acted and spoke at the time in the utmost faith and for what he believed to be necessary for the protection and best interests of his clients, but that he has since reached the conclusion, after subsequent investigation and hearing the evidence on the trial of the case, that he was misinformed as to certain facts involving her home, which was the basis of his said statements in court.

MORE OWENS ROWS FEARED

Possible Repetition of Violence in Hall Case Seen by Editor; Mulholland to Brave Death Threats

Only the uncertain domination by the cooler heads among the ranchers of the Owens Valley district at the head of the Aqueduct is preventing further outbreaks of violence against agents of the city of Los Angeles and residents of the district in sympathy with the policy of the Bureau of Power and Light, according to a statement issued late yesterday to the Associated Press by Harry L. Glasscock, editor of the Owens Valley Herald, and one of the leaders espousing the cause of the ranchers in their controversy with the city over water rights.

"The people here are desperate over the situation, and it would not be surprising if many more who are either agents of Los Angeles or friendly to that city would meet the same fate as L. C. Hall," Glasscock declares in his statement.

FEELING INTENSE

"The feeling in this section is intense, and it is only the cooler heads who are keeping the residents in hand."

Hall, who was kidnaped in Bishop, the principal village in the district, Wednesday night and conducted out of town by armed men, arrived [illegible]day, at his home in Glendale [illegible] tale of narrow escape from [illegible]ng at the hands of his [illegible] To the fact that one of the leaders of the group of a half-dozen or more men who seized him as he sat in a restaurant belonged to the same fraternal order that Hall does Hall declares he owes his life. The kidnapers evidenced every intention of lynching him, according to Hall.

Hall was finally released on the desert between Bishop and Lone Pine at a point only a few miles from the latter town, and made his way through the aid of a rancher to Independence, the seat of the Bureau of Power and Light administration of water affairs in the district.

OTHERS THREATENED

While Hall is personally acquainted with a number of the men constituting the kidnaping group, he has so far given no intimation that prosecution will be asked of the authorities of Inyo county. The violence was precipitated when Hall returned several

SWEETHEARTS WED AFTER THIRTY YEARS

Romance Halted By Missionary Work in East

Thirty years ago, at the Friends College in Wichita, Kan., Alice Lewis and Dr. W. L. Pearson were sweethearts. Yesterday they returned here from their honeymoon in the Orient, arriving from Kobe aboard the Toyo Kisen Kaisha liner Rakuyo Maru. Both were so busy for thirty years carrying the message of Christianity to the by-paths of the world that they didn't have time for marriage.

After she left the Quaker school in the Midwest Miss Lewis traveled through the wildest spots in Asia as a Friends missionary before she took up her work at the Friends Girls' School in Tokio, where she has been for nineteen successive years. In that time she became one of the foremost authorities on the Japanese language.

Her sweetheart twenty-five years ago returned to Friends College and, up until the time he went out to the Orient a year ago to claim his bride, was dean of the theological seminary of the college.

CHAMPION JAZZ BAND FILLS AIR

Offerings Contain Element of Symphonies

Spanish Program Presents Opera Artists

Mexican Orchestra Strums Languorously

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

All of Radioland who worship at the shrine of the goddess Terpsichore will remember the noon hour of yesterday as one of the high lights of their memory book of great dance orchestras. Through the courtesy of Fred H. Solomon, Paul Biese's Band gave a program of jazz. The organization has the honor of holding the world's championship title as a jazz band, having won the $1000 prize and gold medal at the international contest in Chicago on April 10, 1923, over fifteen bands, including those of Isham Jones and Vincent Victor. Biese is one of the world's most versatile saxophone players and yesterday the radio family heard this instrument sound with a beauty of tone and variety of technique that they did not suspect it capable of.

Paul Biese's Band proved yesterday that supremely fine jazz players are artists second to none. Their performance of "After the Storm" contained all the color of a symphonic orchestra. Possibly some of our family might be interested to know that Paul Biese uses a saxophone presented to him by C. B. Conn set in rhinestones which cost $14,000. The personnel is as follows: Paul Biese, violin, clarinet, saxophone; Ralph Boas, clarinet, oboe; George Pfefer, clarinet; Blackie Boshmon, trumpet and cornet; Doc Lawler, trumpet and cornet; Joe Barton, trombone; Roy Henderson, tuba and bass saxophone; R. C. Bittick, drums; Ralph Foote, piano and arranger of all numbers, and Clarence Soule, banjo.

NEW GODMOTHER

Last night a new fairy godmother, the Golden State Electric Company, presided over the studio. She was attired in the guise of a radiant Spanish senorita with scarlet shawl, high comb and the clinking of red heels and castanets. The entire program was Spanish in character.

Everyone was glad to welcome back Miss Conchita Chaves, the Spanish coloratura soprano, who sung her way into their hearts as Gilda in the opera "Rigoletto." Last evening, accompanied by Edyth Peteech, she gave Gilda's famous song, "Caro Nome," with an ease of technique combined with a warmth of tone that brought instant response from her auditors. For lighter numbers Miss Chaves sang "Villenelle," by Dell 'Agua, and "Rimpianto," by Toselli.

Associated on the program with Miss Chaves was another Spanish favorite of opera fame, Senor Miguel Laris. In response to many requests from the public who heard him sing in "Pagliacci" last season, Senor Laris gave "Vesti la giubba," with all the pathos and tradition which have been woven around this tremendous aria. Senor Laris has a genuine dramatic tenor voice and this fall he will be heard in "Rigoletto" with the Metropolitan Operahouse cast.

Last night he gave an aria from "Tosca" and "Questa o Quella" from "Rigoletto." These airs are all utterly different both as to character and emotion, and Senor Laris invested each one with its proper atmosphere.

Edyth Peteech did some sympathetic and fine accompanying for both artists.

STRINGS PLEASE

We never can have too much of Jose Arias and his Mexican Orchestra. Last night they played a group of three numbers, consisting of "A Mi Novia" (To My Sweetheart,) "Blan Julia" and "La Jota" dance, with a sweeping rhythm interspersed with long, languorous phrases such as only the Spaniard uses to portray his emotions. Every one of Jose Arias's men genuinely loves his work, and their leader inspires them to the utmost by his magnetic personality.

The other instrumentalist on the program was Miss Phila Dinsmore, concert pianist. She lent to the program a touch of individuality and simplicity with her piano solos. All pianists know the technical difficulties of Liszt's "Dance of the Gnomes," and last evening Miss Dinsmore gave it with much spirit.

In contrast to the program of musical numbers, Miss Frances Golob, dramatic reader, gave "My Ships," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, with authority and feeling. Miss Golob is popular in Southern California, both in social and artistic circles.

This program was arranged by Mr. R. A. Sedwell, and Radioland offers him a vote of thanks for the enjoyable two hours.

CLEVER CHILDREN

The children's program brought the weekly visit of our young knight, Sir Richard Headrick, who of course, was full of delightful tales of his young brother, who is rapidly gaining in health and chubbiness.

Rosalie Tuso, one of our old favorites, among the childish soprano voices of the studio, accompanied by Beulah Bager, gave two of her father's songs, "Mother and Daddy" and "Beautiful Rose."

Betty McKay, 9-year-old pianist, pupil of Gene Tunberg, gave a Movement of Sonatina by Kuhlan, and "Argonaise" by Massenet. Little Betty proved to be very gifted and we hope feels encouraged to go on with her musical career.

Clever little Viola Von, 6-year-old reader, who is already tremendously popular with Radioland, was with us again last night and gave two of Marshall Stedman's readings. The evening, of course, was opened by Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog with his daily service to the young of our country.

make the'r future home, has been halted by their activities in reconstruction work now under way in the devastated districts.

Mrs. Pearson declared yesterday that Japan, as a result of the earthquake and the American Exclusion Act, is at the greatest crisis in its history.

"The economic load that Japan is carrying today is so tremendous that those of us who have watched the situation develop wonder how she will regain her balance," she said.

"The educational disadvantages, especially among the lower classes, are so acute that thousands of children are not able to obtain even elementary education."

DIPLOMAT ON SHIP

Dr. Pearson said the natural migration of the Japanese, caused chiefly by overpopulation, is rapidly shifting to the west coast of South America since the passage of the Exclusion Act. The Japanese government has subsidized private steamship companies for this purpose, passage to Callao and way ports from Kobe being considerably cheaper than from Kobe to California on the same steamers.

Other notable passengers arriving on the Rakuyo Maru included A. Sakenobe, newly appointed Japanese Minister to Chile, en route to his new post at Valparaiso, accompanied by his wife and two children. He was the guest here yesterday of K. Wakasugi, local Japanese Consul.

Several hundred immigrants en route to South America, twenty-five Hindus and thirty Japenese picture brides for Callao were included in the vessel's passenger list.

JUDICIAL VOTE RECOUNT SEEN

counting the vote, seal the ballots and deliver them to the Registrar of Voters. The Registrar, the code provides, must keep the ballots in their containers, district by district and precinct by precinct, for one year, at the end of which time he must burn them.

It further provides that the ballot boxes cannot be reopened unless a contest to the election is filed, and then only in the district named. The law does not provide for a recount of the ballots for judges separately and therefore the number of votes cast in the judicial election is unknown.

As many voters gave their vote to only two or three of the candidates, while others voted for the twelve running for the full-term candidates, the number of votes cast was easily computed, but the number of ballots was not counted.

Approximately 131,762 ballots were cast in the city, and 80,617 ballots outside of the city, according to figures compiled at a late hour yesterday.

MORS JEWELS PUZZLE GROWS

Mors were among those listed by the husband as missing from her effects. The medal was one given to McCoy in his boxing days and was so inscribed. Eight stones with which it had been set had been removed.

While the opening of the two boxes is declared by Detective Ed King of the District Attorney's office, to have resulted in a strengthening of the case against McCoy, nothing of any interest to the Federal authorities was uncovered.

Further investigation of the motion-picture contract, in which McCoy is said to have assigned his rights in a film, "Kidding Kid McCoy," to Mrs. Mors, will be made by the District Attorney's office.

The preliminary examination of Mors on a burglary charge made by Mrs. Mors and emanating from the marital troubles of the pair, was postponed yesterday by Justice Ballard to September 26. The postponement was at the request of the District Attorney's office and was asked on the grounds that trial of the case now might have an influence on the trial of McCoy on the eight counts, one of which charges murder, pending against him.

Mors was charged by his wife with having robbed the Mors, Inc. shop of $50,000 stock certificate, a promissory note for $250 and a diamond pin valued at $350. Another complaint sworn to by Mrs. Mors at about the same time charged the husband with threatening to kill her. This complaint was dismissed some time ago.

McCoy, awaiting preliminary hearing before Judge Crail next Tuesday, was in a greatly improved mental condition yesterday as a result of the news that his aged mother, Mrs. Mary E. Selby, has exhibited marked improvement in health and now appears to have a fighting chance for recovery from a heart attack brought on through the son's asserted deeds of violence and present predicament.

McCoy will plead not guilty to the charges standing against him, counsel for the defense has announced.

POWER FACILITIES PRAISED

Head of Electricity Commission of South Africa Says Equipment Here Probably World's Best

Praise for the system of electrical power development which he has observed in California was expressed yesterday by H. J. Van der Bijl of Johannesburg, chairman of the electricity supply commission of the Union of South Africa, who is in Southern California to study the power situation here.

"The equipment here is probably the best in the world," said Mr. Van der Bijl, "and one of the things that is a constant source of surprise to me is the distances which power is transmitted here at a cost that makes it practicable for the consumers."

He stated that the problems connected with the development of electrical power in Southern California resemble those of his own country to a considerable extent, particularly as to climatic conditions and the topography of the territory.

DEPEND ON COAL

"There is this difference, of course, that while much of your electricity is developed from water power we have to depend entirely upon our coal supply," he observed. "We obtain our coal at a low cost, however, the average price running about 40 cents a ton. Furthermore, we have devised means whereby we make the by-products of the coal we use practically cover our fuel expenses."

He stated that while the power system of the country is not owned by the government, it has been established and is operated under laws that give the government partial control.

"The system is under the direct supervision of a commission appointed by the government, but which acts to all intents and purposes in the same manner as a private corporation," he said. "This commission directs all construction work and supervises the operation of all power plants.

NONPROFIT BASIS

The members receive a salary from the government and the plants are operated on a nonprofit basis. If there is a surplus after all deductions have been made for running expenses, interest to bondholders and a fund to meet depreciation, this surplus is applied to meet the expense of future operation, the consumers being given the benefit by a reduction of rates."

Speaking generally of conditions in South Africa, he stated that agriculture and manufacturing have been developed at a rapid rate since the establishment of the Union government, which is similar to that of Canada, being a dominion of the British Empire.

"It is not generally known," said Mr. Van Der Bijl, "but our manufacturing interests at this time yield an annual revenue two and a half times as great as that of all the gold and diamond mines in South Africa."

LAST BOWL CONCERT TO BE TONIGHT

Special Program Prepared for Event; Attendance for Season Shows Gain

The closing concert of the 1924 season will be given this evening at the Hollywood Bowl, bringing to a close the most successful year in the history of the organization.

"Attendance has been 25 per cent greater than last year," said Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Bowl Association, last night, "and we have given local music lovers many artists of international reputation. I am sure that we shall have a wonderful closing program."

Conductor Alfred Herts's selections for the evening include four of the most popular composers of history — Beethoven, Wagner, Tschaikowsky and Kreisler.

The opening number will be "Overture to Lenore No. 3" by Beethoven, followed by one of the popular hits of last Tuesday night's concert. This is Deems Taylor's "Through the Looking Glass" suite, depicting by music what Alice saw in Wonderland.

Tschaikowsky's "Pathetique Symphony, second and third movements," Wagner's "Dream from Tristan and Isolde" and Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois" will close the orchestra program, with Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner" bringing the season to an end.

Extensive plans have been made for next season. If sufficient funds are derived from this season's concerts the plan is to install an outdoor pipe organ, an improvement which would add much in the way of opportunity for pleasing novelties.

Traffic congestion, which was such a problem last year, virtually has been eliminated, and even further improvements are planned for next season.

The Young Artists' contest, which proved such a success, will be continued and it is hoped to bring many promising young musicians to the attention of local audiences.

days ago to Bishop after having been ordered out of the country a month previous. Hall is charged by the ranchers of the district and the business men of Bishop with having aided Los Angeles in asserted unfair methods of obtaining water rights in the district and with having put the interests of Los Angeles before the interests of the community in which he lived.

When Hall was released he was instructed to carry warnings to three other residents of the district against whom the ranchers place similar charges. These men are George Warren of Big Pine and George Watterson and George Symons of Bishop, none of whom is now in the hotbed of the anti-Los Angeles district—Bishop.

The sentiment against Los Angeles has existed for several years in the district surrounding Bishop, but it had never reached serious proportions until the aqueduct was blown up at a point a few miles north of Lone Pine last May. None of the perpetrators of this violence was ever arrested.

MULHOLLAND PLANS TRIP

William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Bureau of Power and Light, who is said by the ranchers to be more instrumental than any other man in bringing about the strained relations between ranchers and city, has received a number of threatening letters from time to time, it was revealed yesterday after Hall's experience had become known. Mulholland's life has been threatened if he visits the district.

Despite this it is Mulholland's intention to accompany the Chamber of Commerce reconciliation committee to Bishop next week.

CHORUS TO HAVE PICNIC

Members of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association chorus will hold a picnic today at Big Tujunga Canyon. They will be guests of J. T. Fitzgerald, Los Angeles music dealer, on his Tujunga estate. Executives of the civic association, including the president, United States District Judge Bledsoe, will attend and will address the members of the chorus. A number of musical features are planned.

Southern California Edison Company Entertains Hundred-Odd at Long Beach Improvement

More than 100 publishers and editors of Southern California were guests yesterday of the Southern California Edison Company on an inspection trip and luncheon given this year at the company's new Long Beach steam-generating plant. Last year they were taken to Big Creek.

Steam turbine and electric dynamo parts constituting the first power unit will arrive at Long Beach in a special train of twenty-three cars early next week and will be in commission on or before December 1, although the contract date is March 25, next year. The completed plant, consisting of three 35,000-kilowatt generators, will have a capacity of 100,000 horsepower, just about doubling the output of the seven units already in commission.

SHORTAGE OVERLAPPED

To put it another way, the capacity of the Long Beach plant will be almost five times the kilowatt-hour shortage of the Edison system in the present season of curtailment, after making allowance for all leases and purchases of power now in effect, and next year, when the Florence Lake tunnel is finished and another 600,000,000 kilowatt hours are brought in, there will be available ten times more power than the existing deficit.

For the same out-turn of power eight boilers and three generators will be employed in the new plant, as against forty boilers and seven generators in the older half of the plant. By burning natural gas the boilers will be operated at a rating of 150 per cent, instead of the 120 or 125 possible with oil and the normal 100 estimated by the manufacturers with coal for fuel.

PRESSURE GREATER

Instead of a pressure of 250 pounds, the new boilers carry 400 and the superheated steam is delivered to the turbines as a perfectly dry, colorless gas at a temperature of 700 degrees Fahrenheit. These economies of higher pressure and greater heat enable the generators to deliver 375 kilowatt hours to the barrel of oil as against 250 in the old plant.

Because of the quantity of auxiliary apparatus employed in modern boiler rooms, the boilers themselves, instead of resting on the ground, are suspended from the roof girders above the floor of the second story, while the concrete stacks, instead of standing on massive blocks of concrete, rise from steel supports built into the framework of the same floor. Ninety per cent of the draft entering the furnaces is force fed.

$20,000,000 IN PLANT

In the course of the luncheon, R. H. Ballard, general manager of the company, gave a little talk on the growth of the plant and its relation to this summer's power shortage. Complete, it will represent an investment, he said, of about $20,000,000, of which $15,000,000 will have gone into construction now under way. The original installation was 70,000 horsepower but three new stock units were bought and erected which are now delivering an additional 30,000 horsepower. The management first began to think of increasing its steam-generated capacity about the middle of March and on July 4 the new units were delivering electricity—a record, Ballard believes, for rapid erection.

Emergency measures resulted in cutting down the actual shortage to 6 per cent of the expected output for the year 1924, which had been figured at an increase of 21 per cent over that of last year. In other words, the company today is delivering more power than it did in 1923.

NORMALCY PREDICTED

Actual conservation, Ballard said, had been shown to average 18 per cent over the whole field. He predicted that November 1 would see a return to usual conditions if intervening weather is normal.

G. C. Ward, vice-president in charge of construction; City Manager Windham of Long Beach; Col. Miller of Fillmore, one of the visiting editors, and S. L. Shuffleton, resident manager for Stone & Webster, engineers in charge of construction and erection, spoke briefly.

The promotion of Fred B. Lewis, who entered the service of the company nineteen years ago, on graduation from college, as a meter reader, and now becomes assistant general manager, was announced by General Manager Ballard.

Lorraine Platte got another big round of applause with a jazz dance. Benny Yost got sentimental and conjured up some pictures of the past with a touching rendition of "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

Vera Webster, who does her stuff with the most professional of airs, had them all keeping time with a snappy interpretation of the "Gin Gin Ginny Shore." Jack Ellison followed with a fine buck and wing. About this time the darkies began to sweep up the corn and Peggy Arentz sang "I'm Going South." The jazz band, under the direction of Hartwell Jones and managed by Jocelyn Crichton, deserves high praise for its work in helping make the show a success.

Aunt Dolly got the pleasant surprise of the day when the William Royal Garden Orchestra of nine colored boys from San Antonio, Tex., volunteered their services. These boys are among the best of the jazz jugglers and will be heard over The Times radio KHJ next Tuesday.

At the conclusion of the show Aunt Dolly was handed a regular garden of flowers. She responded with one of her characteristic speeches that make everybody feel at home.

LIVING COST REDUCED IN ANGEL CITY

Statistics Reveal Drop of 1.3 Per Cent in June as Compared to March

Total living costs showed a small reduction in Los Angeles from March to June, according to figures compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor, and received here yesterday.

It took just 1.3 per cent less money to keep the average family going in June, as compared to March, the figures reveal. The majority of other cities from which figures were obtained showed lesser declines in total living costs during this period, and some showed increases. In a few of them the living cost slump was slightly more pronounced than in this city.

Tables prepared by the bureau to cover Los Angeles reveal that virtually every commodity coming under the heading of cost of living dropped in price from March to June. Food was 2.3 per cent cheaper. Clothing dropped 1.3 per cent in price, and housing, fuel and light and house furnishing goods fell off proportionately. Miscellaneous articles, however, showed a gain in this period of .4 per cent, the only item in the tables to show an increase.

Last June, the figures reveal, the total living costs here were 75.1 per cent higher than they were in December, 1913, that month being used as the basis for the bureau's figures.

Methodists to Raise $1,000,000 Budget to Pension Superannuated Ministers

A campaign to raise $1,000,000 in Southern California, to be used in pensioning the superannuated ministers and circuit riders of the Methodist Church in the Southern California conference area, was inaugurated yesterday with Rev. W. E. Tilroe, D.D., of the University of Southern California as chairman of the committee. The effort is part of a national campaign throughout the United States being conducted by a board of conference claimants of the Methodist Church. Between now and November many sermons will be preached and literature will be distributed in the interest of the "poorhouse fund" as it is sometimes called.

"Of all workers in this working world there is one man who is not allowed to work for himself in any selfish sense, his labor being mainly for the other fellow," said Dr. Tilroe. "That man is the preacher. He may be out of style but good form demands that he run ragged with work. If he ministered unto, he gets the belt. His natural destiny is a holy poorhouse.

"It seems strange that a man in business is doing good when he does not receive his share of the world's material goods," continued Dr. Tilroe. "A minister may not even put by his savings when worn out but is never given more than living wage, and to give part of that away is his usual business. The parish does not like a married pastor—it prefers that he tighten his belt. If he tangles with money it is imputed to him for unrighteousness. He may not work for money, save money, be given money, marry, borrow or collect money without smelling of brimstone. If preachers have needed money, or if they have fallen on the east wind, it has been all right in the opinion of many persons who pretend to be willing to pay their debts and do, but who too often forget their duty toward those men who have given of their life business to spread the gospel of light among their fellow beings."

"WAS JESUS A PATRIOT?"

A harvest festival service will be conducted tomorrow morning at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Twenty-fifth Place and Vermont avenue. The church will be decorated with fruits and flowers of the farmland, and Dr. Jesse W. Stub, the pastor, will preach on "Was Jesus and What They Indicate." In the evening Dr. Ball will discuss the question, "Was Jesus a Patriot?"

"CIGARETTE MEETING"

"Cigarette-talk" will not be offered to members of the audience during the "Cigarette Mass meeting" at the First Methodist Church tomorrow evening, but if there are any smokers in the congregation they are likely to get their ears burned. The questions of whether any one has a right to use the "weed" and of whether civilization is figuratively and literally "going up in smoke" will be discussed by citizens of Los Angeles. Among the speakers will be Mrs. John C. Urquhart, State president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, who will discuss "Women and Cigarettes," and Prof. Charles Moore, principal of the Franklin High School, who will speak on "High School Students and Cigarettes." John D. Maxfield, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce committee on the prevention of fires, will speak on "Cigarettes and Fires." John A. Walton, Esq., will discuss "Cigarettes and Future Civilization and the smoking question, which is fast becoming a burning question, will also be discussed by members of the athletic world and the medical profession.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

A lesson-sermon on "Christ Jesus" will be read at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning in each of the seventeen Christian Science churches of Los Angeles. The evening service at 8 o'clock in First, Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth and Thirteenth churches will be a repetition of the morning service. Wednesday evening meetings, which include testimonies of Christian Science healing, are held by all the churches.

WHAT IS THE SOUL?
Do the Creeds and the Bible agree on this subject? Can the Soul die or sleep? Do you know the Bible says that animals have Souls? Can you find the words "Immortal Soul" in the Bible? Let us stand by God's Word rather than the Creeds or the precepts of men. "Thy Word is Truth." The Speaker will make this perplexing subject very clear and plain—which will appeal to your REASON. EXPECT CLOSING OF ROAD HOUSES

Federal Men Predict Raids Will Cause Shutdown

Fifteen More Arrests and Many Seizures Made

One Taken in Office of "Advertising" Company

A series of raids made by Federal prohibition agents from San Francisco under direction of D. J. O'Leary, senior agent of the Los Angeles dry office, terminated yesterday when fifteen men were arrested on charges of violating the Volstead Act. According to Agent O'Leary, the raids placed in the hands of the Federal officers evidence that will be used in an effort to have several road houses closed for one year under the nuisance provision of the prohibition law.

In addition to road houses raided Thursday, the places in which arrests were made yesterday and in which large amounts of intoxicating liquor were reported to have been seized, were the Verdugo Ranch Road House, 4201 Verdugo Road; the Pompeii Cafe, 421 South Western avenue, and the Glendale Tavern, Glendale.

Those arrested at the Verdugo Ranch Road House were Joe Monico and Bert Bustarna, proprietors, and Nick Valli and Walter C. Fisher, waiters. At the Pompeii Cafe, Martin Belmonte, a waiter, was arrested. Louie Quatrano, proprietor, who is en route to the East, was cited to answer a charge of maintaining a nuisance. Those arrested at the Glendale Tavern were "Babe" Herman, Ernest Lanfield, John W. Oliver and George Cook.

CHAMPAGNE SEIZED

The agents reported seizing 200 bottles of liquor, mostly champagne, at the Verdugo Ranch Road House. They said the liquor was hidden in numerous clevery contrived "traps" which were found under stairs and behind false partitions.

George Smith, said to be the proprietor of an advertising company, was arrested in his office in a building on South Hill street. The arrest followed information that the concern was in the liquor business instead of the advertising business. Seized records showed the office occupied by the association was leased two months ago for one year at a rental of $120 a month. George E. Masse and Tim Harrington, said to be associated with Smith, were arrested Thursday by Federal agents, who reported buying liquor from them.

Paul Stoynoff, a taxi driver, and Mike Jim, were arrested at 166 Glass street. The arresting officers reported they bought a gallon of moonshine whisky from Stoynoff for $3, and that the latter purchased the liquor from Jim for $4. They reported also that a second gallon of whisky was found in Jim's house at the Glass-street address.

HEAVY BONDS PROVIDED

Frank Spera, Sam Rentour and William C. Ford were arrested at a rooming-house between Third and Fourth streets on South Figueroa street. Spera and Rentour were released under $10,000 bond each. All the others arrested during the day also gave bonds ranging from $1000 to $5000 each. Twelve men who were arrested in the course of the raids Thursday also were released under bond.

Most of the arrests were made as the result of "buys" that were made during the last two weeks by the San Francisco agents, according to Agent O'Leary. The cases are among the best that have ever been developed by the prohibition office, and the immediate result has been to practically stop the sale of liquor at roadhouses and cafes, O'Leary said. The San Francisco agents will return to the northern city today.

How Large Does Hen Want Coop? Council Queries

How large is a chicken coop?

The City Council struggled with this weighty problem yesterday.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals had asked for legislation to provide roomy, comfortable coops for chickens. The Council's Welfare Committee said that it was a good idea and the City Attorney was asked to prepare a roomy chicken-coop ordinance.

City Attorney Stephens in a report read to the City Council yesterday opined that he could prepare any kind of ordinance the Council wanted, but added that if the ordinance only stated that the coop was to be sufficient for the comfort of the inclosed chickens, the question would arise between the owner of the coop and the enforcing officer as to how large a comfortable chicken coop should be, and then there would be trouble.

So the Council referred the matter to its Welfare Committee to determine the exact size in feet and inches that a coop should be, per chicken.

LEGION FILES PLAN TO FINANCE CLUBHOUSE

The American Legion Building Association of Santa Monica, organized as a nonprofit co-operative association, applied to the State Commissioner of Corporations yesterday for a permit to issue regular and honorary membership toward the building of a $35,000 memorial clubhouse at Santa Monica.

Option has been secured on a 50-foot lot at Santa Monica for the building, the application declares. The building materials are to be furnished at cost, and it is planned to include clubrooms, a gymnasium and bathing lockers for the accommodation of members of the Santa Monica Bay Cities Post, No. 123, of the American Legion.

Officers of the association are named in the application as Cliff Henderson, president; A. C. Elder and Arthur Meng, vice-presidents, and C. A. Leigh, secretary-treasurer.

MURDERER DEFIANT IN COURT QUIZ

Cowdrey, Witness in Case of McCormick, Refuses to Name Robbery Aide

Preliminary examination of the robbery charges against Cliff McCormick, former private detective, was begun yesterday before Justice Russell and will continue today with Godfrey Cowdrey, convicted of the murder of Joseph Langley, as the chief witness.

Cowdrey named McCormick as one of the three participants in the robbery of a Los Angeles Railway bus on March 25, last, said he got a third of the proceeds, but declined to name the third man though threatened with punishment for contempt of court. As Cowdrey is under a life sentence the threats did not seem to impress him.

"Will you swear it was not Carey Wilson?" he was asked.

"I would if it was necessary," replied Cowdrey. Wilson was tried recently, charged with this robbery, and the jury disagreed. Cowdrey had pleaded guilty.

E. C. Fitts, robbed bus driver, was another witness. He identified Cowdrey but said he did not see McCormick, who was described by Cowdrey as the driver of the robbers' car.

Another count in the charge against McCormick is the robbery of Mrs. Sallie Kelly of the Buckingham Apartments, but it is said this will be dropped. McCormick asserts he worked with the robbery gang in his capacity as detective in order to gain information about the Langley murder. He was the principal witness against Cowdrey in that case.

Farm Experts to Study Ranch Work of State

Three eminent farming men of the United States will reach California Monday to study ranch conditions throughout the State and will arrive in Southern California next Saturday. The three, O. E. Bradfute, national president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; E. P. Taylor and A. R. Simpson, national officers of the same organization, will be feted in every section they are scheduled to visit.

In Los Angeles the celebration is being arranged by Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the agricultural department of the Chamber of Commerce. The party, which will be augmented by district farm bureau officials from northern counties, will pass through the city next Friday night, en route to Santa Ana.

A district session of the farm bureau will be conducted there Saturday, and the next day the visitors will arrive in Los Angeles to spend several hours prior to leaving for Santa Paula and Ventura.

It is anticipated that there will be thirty prominent agricultural men in the party, including A. C. Hardison, State president of the Farm Bureau Federation, and the national officers.

The itinerary for the week includes district sessions at Berkeley, Sacramento, Fresno, Tulare, Santa Ana and Watsonville.

MEN OF NINETY-FIRST PLAN REUNION HERE

GATHERING TO BRING 15,000 VETERANS TO ANGEL CITY LAST OF SEPTEMBER

Committees composed of hundreds of former Ninety-first Division veterans, under the leadership of Frank P. Doherty, president of the Ninety-first Division Association, are laying extensive plans for the entertainment of 15,000 "Powder River" boys during their fifth annual reunion, to be held here September 27 and 28. This year's reunion brings together the veterans of the entire division, coming from Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Hawaiian Islands and California.

Tentative plans have been made for a banquet of each separate unit of the division, a parade of all the units and election of officers.

Elaborate arrangements are being made to entertain the visitors with sightseeing trips to the beaches, dances, a rodeo and trips to the motion-picture studios of Hollywood.

CONTRACTOR ENJOINED

Excavating of Lot at Second and Flower Stopped by Court

Through an order issued yesterday by Judge Frederick C. Valentine, Julius Josephson and Jim Hill, a contractor, were temporarily enjoined from further excavating in a lot at West Second and Flower streets.

The injunction was granted on the petition of Clara B. Mead, Rose M. Thorne, Joseph Laventhal and others, who asserted the houses on their property, an adjoining lot, were in danger of being precipitated into the excavation on Josephson's lot.

Josephson and Hill were not represented in court and the injunction was granted without protest. The petitioners deposited a bond of $2500.

VISITOR SEES BRIGHT TRADE FUTURE HERE

Frank D. Gardner

INDUSTRIAL METROPOLIS IS FORECAST

Ex-Governor of Missouri Says Facilities for Great Factory Center Exist

The facilities for the development of industry in Los Angeles are such as should make this one of the industrial centers of the country, in the opinion of Frank D. Gardner, former Governor of Missouri and the owner of a large manufacturing plant in St. Louis.

Mr. Gardner, who was the chief executive of Missouri during the war, is in Los Angeles on a vacation. He is accompanied by his son, D. A. Gardner, and is staying at the Ambassador.

"You have every advantage here for the growth of manufacturing," said Mr. Gardner. "With your oil supply for fuel and your excellent transportation facilities, together with the market offered not only by your local territory, but that of the Far East, it seems to me that the industrial future of Los Angeles is assured."

Referring to conditions in the Middle West, Mr. Gardner stated that the recent rise in the prices of agricultural products had made this section richer by about $2,500,000,000 more than it had figured on earlier in the season.

"This wave of prosperity has caused an appreciable revival in all lines of business," he said. "There is an abundance of money, a fact of which the industrial interests will not fail to take advantage. I expect to see business restored to its normal activity in a short time."

Mr. Gardner, who is a Democrat, was the chairman of the Missouri delegation to the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco in 1920 and also headed the delegation from his State to the recent New York convention.

Mr. Gardner is an enthusiastic golfer and praised the golf courses he had found in California. "I made it in 77 on your Country Club course here yesterday," he said.

Twenty-third Calawaii Trip Starts Today

The Los Angeles-Honolulu liner Calawaii will sail at noon today from her berth at Los Angeles Harbor for Honolulu on her twenty-third voyage to the Islands.

She will carry 125 first-class passengers and her usual cargo of local fruits, produce and merchandise for island distribution.

Included among the passengers scheduled to sail are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chandler, parents of R. J. Chandler, general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. A vaudeville troupe of twelve members headed by Irene West will sail for Honolulu, where the first of a series of engagements, scheduled to take the troupe throughout the Orient, will be filled.

A number of the passengers sailing today will remain aboard the Calawaii while the liner completes the loop voyage, which will take her to the islands of Maui and Hawaii in the group after landing at Honolulu.

Recent word from government volcano officials, stationed at Kilauea volcano on Hawaii, indicates Mme. Pele, as Kilauea is known to the natives, is in a state of activity at present, and the passengers are looking forward to their visit to the great fire pit, which may be approached, it is said, with absolute safety.

The Calawaii will arrive at Honolulu on September 6, sailing again from that port for the mainland on September 13.

NEW POLICE-STATION WORK STARTS TODAY

CHIEF WILL PARTICIPATE IN GROUND-BREAKING ON NEWTON STREET

Ground will be broken today at 10 a.m. for the new Los Angeles police station at Newton street and Central avenue. Chief of Police Heath and other city officials will take part in the ceremonies, using a steam shovel in place of the customary silver spade.

Plans are to rush construction and have the building completed in ninety days. The new station will serve nearly half of the territory of the University district. The original intention was to start work Monday, but as that will be a holiday the ground-breaking was set forward.

NEWTON CASE IS DISMISSED

Accused Teacher Pledges to be More Discreet

Recants More Radical Part of School Article

Explanation and Assurances Satisfy Board

The explanation and assurances made by William T. Newton, teacher at Manual Arts High School, to the Board of Education regarding his authorship of an article in the School Journal appealing to his fellow-teachers to avow conscientious objection in event of another war were accepted by the board yesterday and the case dismissed. The trial lasted three days with one night session, and the whole matter of teacher conduct has been gone into and defined.

In his explanation to the board Mr. Newton freely admitted that publication of his radical sentiments was a breach of professional good conduct.

HELD IMPROPER

This, it is felt, will take the wind out of the sails of the ultra-liberal element within and without the school system which had confused the rights of free speech with the conduct of a teacher as a servant of the State in uttering revolutionary sentiments within the classroom, where the pupils perforce must listen, and also out of the classroom in public because of the teacher's category as a model for youth. Mr. Newton admitted that it would be improper, whatever the teachers' views, to teach pacifism within the classroom, for pacifism is a doctrine of an optional nature while the public school is an institution to promote learning according to the textbooks selected by school authorities.

As soon as the board reconvened as a trial body yesterday morning John B. Beman offered a resolution disposing of the case, based on Mr. Newton's testimony of the night before in which he recanted the more radical sentiments in the article in question.

CASE DISMISSED

This resolution, which was adopted unanimously by the board, read as follows:

"In view of the definite statements made by Mr. Newton to this board in last evening's session, to the effect that he realizes the impropriety of his action in publishing the article which appeared in the Los Angeles School Journal and which has been here under discussion, while in the employ of the School Department, and that he recognizes the responsibility of all teachers under the law for the wisdom and propriety of their words and actions, both official and unofficial, and in view of his further assurance that he will carefully refrain from such offenses in the future, and in view of his signed statement reaffirming his oath of office as a teacher, I move the dismissal of these proceedings."

SERVICE IS NEW SLOGAN IN BUSINESS

Psychology Application Creating Fresh Ideals, Says Sales Lecturer

The practical application of psychological principles in different lines of business and industry today gradually is creating a new set of ideals in the commercial world, chief among which is that of service, according to Dr. Arthur Holmes, professor of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Holmes, who is at the Biltmore, is on the Coast to lecture on psychology to groups of salesmen, and addressed in the ballroom of the sales staff of the National Mortgage Sales Company of California at the Biltmore yesterday. He stated that he has been delivering lectures of this nature for nearly two years all over the country, his travels in 1923 aggregating about 30,000 miles.

"The necessity for the development of the element of service in business arose when mechanical agencies and organization had been perfected to the point where they had become standardized," said Dr. Holmes. "You go into any one of half a dozen reputable stores to buy a pair of shoes, for instance, and the goods they will sell you are exactly the same in all of them so far as quality and price are concerned. The only point on which the different establishments may be at variance is in the matter of service.

"The idea of service can be developed only through inspiration which in turn can be created only by the possession of an ideal or mental vision of the thing sought to be accomplished. The process by which the service of any business establishment can be improved, therefore, is purely a phychological one to which well-established rules of the science of psychology apply."

Beatrice Nemer to Be Bride of Dr. H. E. Schorr

The engagement of Miss Beatrice Nemer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Nemer of 1134 North Kenmore avenue and a senior at the Southern Branch of the University of California, to Dr. Herman E. Schorr, on the staff of the Golden State Hospital, was announced last night. They will be married on October 21, which will also be Miss Nemer's birthday.

Miss Nemer is widely known in university and social circles here. She met Dr. Schorr for the first time last January at the Biltmore and a second meeting between them in July developed the romance. Dr. Schorr came here from New York two years ago. At the present time he is engaged in special research dealing with predetermination of sex.

THE PESSIMIST

A progressive politician is one who can dig up something fresh to worry about every day.

ON DRY LAND

The bones of a camel were found in a dry lake in Kansas. Possibly to mark the spot where the prohibition party had its origin. Certainly the teetotaler had something to do with the mystery.

THE MEAT EATERS

The Interallied Council of Physiologists furnishes further proof that a vegetable diet is conducive to health and longevity. They have some figures from Denmark covering ten years to show that a complete curtailment of the meat ration has extended the span of life and reduced the rate of mortality. Fruits, vegetables and milk can be so combined as to supply the demands for strength and energy and at the same time spare the body some of the pangs and punishment that go with much eating of meat.

BY THEIR FRUITS

It took four mogul engines to pull a train of California fruit over the grade the other day. When it pulled out of San Bernardino on the Santa Fe it numbered seventy loaded cars and it was the greatest consignment that ever went over the pass. It was said to represent a value of nearly $1,000,000. But, at that, it is a mere bagatelle. The railroad men say that it takes nearly 50,000 cars to handle the California grape crop alone. Easterners who have been reporting that there was no fruit in California this year do not know what they are talking about.

DELIVERING THE GOODS

Without making any fuss about it the government is administering justice with a firm but impartial hand. The Democrats have been calling for the prosecution of the combinations of capital until the presumption is raised that any moneyed man in business is a crook and an enemy of the people. This is a dangerous and deplorable doctrine to preach and is manifestly unjust. But where there is any evidence of wrongful combinations or business conspiracy the administration is quick to act and needs no political prodding to that end. Since the present administration came into power with President Harding there have been sixty-one government prosecutions under the Sherman antitrust law. In twenty-five cases the government won a conviction. Ten cases were lost and the others are still pending. The government cannot always force a trial and the attorneys for the trusts are exceptionally efficient in the tactics of delay. So it may seem that, if there is any punishing of unlawful greed on the part of trusts and syndicates, it may safely be left to the just and impartial hands of Calvin Coolidge.

AMONG THE GORILLAS

Los Angeles backs an eminent explorer who is heading an expedition to the Belgian Congo country in quest of gorillas. Of course, he may round up a lion or two, but the outstanding impulse of the journey centers upon the gorilla. Preferably the explorer will take them alive. Catching full-blooming gorillas with bare hands is an even more desperate sport than crap-shooting. There have been gorillas in America, but they have been few and brief of life. The hairy exiles have usually been attached to some traveling menagerie and the wandering life with its extremes of weather and exposure to storms and winds has been beyond their endurance. Pneumonia and consumption have claimed them within the span of a few weeks. But it is felt that if a few healthy young gorillas could be rounded up and permanently lodged in a Los Angeles zoo they might be able to give Methuselah a run for his title. The weather and conditions in this section are such as to furnish a bright gorilla with that old-home feeling that is conducive to good temper and extended years. The experiment is at least worth trying.

PEACE AND THE LEAGUE

According to the budget as planned, the permanent strength of the Japanese army is to be reduced by five divisions and the expenditures on army and navy accounts are to be reduced by nearly $200,000,000. This would indicate a radical shortening in the national display of force. One of the real statesmen of the island empire places full faith in the League of Nations as the keeper of the world's peace. He says in a public statement that the importance of the League as a factor in world politics is growing steadily. Where some of the earlier sessions were attended chiefly by politicians and representatives of minor importance an active part in the deliberations and proceedings is now being taken by the premiers and the real higher-ups in the various governments adhering to the agreement. Even the Philippines are clamoring for admission while still recognizing their allegiance to the United States. They say that India has representation of her own in the League, Mexico is lining up for admission and in a little while the United States will be virtually the only government on the Western Hemisphere remaining aloof from the League.

THE FAR EAST

Conditions in China, as far as foreigners are concerned, are reported to be more serious than at any other time since the Boxer rebellion. Rival government parties are striving for control; and the Shanghai-Nanking sector covers territory in which 3000 Americans and probably 10,000 nationals of other countries are living.

Chinese rebellions are traditional looting expeditions; and the hostility of the contending parties generally devolves into a general attack on foreigners.

Four American warships have been sent to the trouble zone, along with British and Japanese vessels. The situation is of sufficient gravity that a special Cabinet session was held yesterday to consider what further action our government shall take.

Political unrest in China has been chronic for the last ten years. No Federal government has been able to enforce its authority in all sections of the country. There have generally been two or three governments functioning, each headed by a military dictator.

Russian unrest has spread into what was once the Chinese Empire; and the recent conferences with the soviets have caused a party to rise that is in warm sympathy with the government at Moscow. If the Chinese Communists should be able to take the field in large numbers looting will be general, and the foreign residents will be the chief victims.

From present indications the other powers at interest will act under the provisions of the Treaty of Washington. It will be the first time the terms of that treaty, in so far as it relates to China, will be put to the test.

Under that treaty Great Britain, Japan and the United States agree to work in unity to preserve order in China. If the representatives of these powers agree that military action is necessary a joint land and naval expedition may follow.

It is very possible that conditions are exaggerated; and that the Chinese revolutionists will disperse without shedding much blood. But no one can say from this distance to what extent the Communist virus in China has affected the native population. A generation ago the Chinese were not inclined to settle their political controversies with steel and powder. The pacifist sentiment was so general that they would not even protect themselves against foreign aggression. The mass of the people paid no attention to politics and permitted a paternal government to do about as it liked, provided it did not tax them too heavily.

But recent reports are to the effect that the rising generation is more inclined to violence. The patriotic spirit, as we know it in this country, does not exist there. But groups, like the tongs in this country, carry arms and dominate by force the supine majority.

For fifty years the theorists have speculated on what would take place when the Chinese giant should awake. The alarmists painted this awakening as the yellow peril. But so many years have passed without anything formidable coming out of China that mention of the "peril" is now passed over with polite skepticism.

In the present troubled condition of the world no one is wise enough to predict with certainty just what will or will not happen tomorrow or the day after. A little match can sometimes kindle a great conflagration. When fighting begins in China no one can say what will be its extent or when it will cease. Perhaps that is the reason the powers are acting so promptly to forestall any general outbreak of hostilities.

GERMANY'S BITTER-ENDERS

That the Berlin government is working strenuously to win the acceptance of the Nationalists to the Dawes plan ratification is proof that the Nationalist party in Germany is a power to reckon with. In connection with the activities of the Nationalists the increasing number of "patriotic associations," all with a distinct military leaning, has not escaped the French observers.

The "Arbeitsgemeinschraft," as this working federation is known, has headquarters in all leading German cities and is being constantly joined by forces that are out of sympathy with the present German republic.

Its program includes three main features that are suggestive. It advocates the use of force for the regeneration of the German people enfeebled by parliamentary regimes and revolutionary elements. It demands from the government a preparation for "active resistance" against France. It calls for a campaign in favor of compulsory military service for German youths.

The "Heimatbund" has its center in Eastern Prussia. It is the most important agent of military agitation in Germany and is the instigator of the whole "patriotic" movement in the so-called "sport societies" and war-veteran associations.

Above all local associations there exists in Germany a league of national importance which has made extraordinary progress during the last few months. It is known as the "Stahlhelm" (Steel Helmet.) Originally a federation of war veterans, its scope has been extended to include landowners, laborers and young men who did not serve in the war. It has now a membership of over 1,000,000 men.

The German Nationalist party has gathered to itself all the disgruntled members of the old Junkers, all the royalists, the extreme Franco-phobists, the military associations, a majority of the university students and other young and rebellious elements in the republic.

For the good of the peace of Europe these bitter-enders are in a minority; but it is a strong minority and a fighting minority, and a too-long-continued period of unsettled conditions in Germany might convert it into a majority. This attempted militarist revival is but another proof of the need for speedy application of the Dawes plan with the economic revival it promises for both Germany and France. With financial prosperity in sight again the call of the bitter-enders will lose its appeal to those who are now listening to it too intently.

DOWN IN THE MOUTH

Now a dentist is being sued for $20,000 because he violently opened the mouth of a patient and wrenched from it a set of false teeth for which the lady had failed to pay. If a patient neglects to pay for his artificial incisors in whom does the title lodge? Under commercial practice if a creditor can get possession of property which has not been paid for he may be sustained by the courts. But in this case the dining-room furniture becomes attached to the person and is not readily divorced. It will be quite a relief when the court decides whether a man's false teeth are his own or belong to the dentist—until paid for.

THE WICKED CIGARETTE

Ontario has a pastor who, it seems, ought to be an alienist. He has a pet theory on which he would like to hang all the wickedness of the world. He thinks he has discovered the cause of the downfall of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb and all the other committers of crimes. It is, he says, the insidious cigarette. He asserts that virtually all criminals are cigarette fiends.

This seems a little far-fetched. It is not on record, for instance, that Cain ever smoked a cigarette, and crime has been going on pretty much ever since. Nor is there any evidence that Adam and Eve became weak and irresolute characters through addiction to fags. Some pretty notable villains and sinners showed up in history before there were any cigarettes, either tailor-made or home-brewed, and there is even good ground for argument that people generally are gentler, kindlier and more generally imbued with good citizenship since tobacco was discovered than before. That progress is due merely to the perpetual forward march of knowledge and civilization and not at all to tobacco in any form. It would be unfair to credit cigarettes with all that progress. But it seems equally unfair to blame them with all the outcroppings of atavistic wicked tendencies.

It is not known on what statistics, if any, the Ontario minister bases his theory. It may be true that most of the men in jails are cigarette smokers, but so are a very high proportion of the men not in prisons. It cannot be denied that a great part of the world's progress right now is being carried on by cigarette smokers—scientists, engineers, architects, writers, artists, agriculturists and what not. It is doubtful if even the earnest minister can make a survey of all his acquaintances without being convinced that there are far more good cigarette smokers than bad ones, just as there are far more good noncigarette smokers than bad ones. There are more good people of every kind than there are bad ones, but the bad ones make so much trouble that we hear more of them. The soldiers in the late war were almost as noted for their love of cigarettes as for their love of high ideals.

Judging by the past, it seems likely that if cigarettes were banished some one would arise and blame coffee for all our sins. And if coffee were banished some one else would claim attention to blame tea or something else. Cigarettes may be a nuisance, an expense and a waste of time, but it is doubtful if any attempt to prove that they are the devil in palpable form will be successful in this generation.

BUMPING THE BUMPS

The rapid deterioration of the paving already laid is the heartbreaking phase of the paving situation.

A year ago both West Sixth street and Vermont avenue—to name only one important east and west and one important north and south thoroughfare—were in good condition and smooth. Today both are rubbed like washboards. From surface indications the concrete base of each has gone to pieces and nothing but complete repaving will help either.

Small wonder, considering the trenches that have been dug in them and more or less successfully filled—generally less.

New buildings have to have gas and water and telephone and electricity and sewer connections, and there has been a deal of new building all over town. But there must be some more intelligent solution of the problem than has yet been adopted in Los Angeles.

One suggestion made is to give over every other street to street cars and every other street to auto traffic. The suggestion might be extended to permitting pipes and wires only in the street-car streets. This would mean longer laterals, but might cost less in the long run. The street-car streets would then be abandoned definitely to roughness—to which they seem condemned anyhow—and the only auto traffic in them would be demonstrators of balloon tires and the rival types of shock absorbers.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

What Clemenceau Plans

M. Georges Clemenceau, writing his book on "The History of Philosophy" and getting up at 4 o'clock each morning, had nothing to say on the outcome of the London conference. He was watering his flowers when reporters hurried from Paris on the quest of getting the old "tiger's" views. "Does it really mean the end of the war, M. Clemenceau?" they asked him. "Do you know fuchsias are not supposed to be in bloom at this time of the year?" was the answer. "M. Clemenceau, do you agree with the announcement that the Ruhr is to be evacuated?" came the persistent query. "Ah, I should have been a painter. I missed my career. That bunch of chrysanthemums is a superb subject for water colors, don't you think?"

The journalists could get nothing out of him. "I've turned philosopher and gardener," he announced. "But when your book is finished, what are your plans?"

"When my book is finished I am going to visit the United States again, go to the Follies, pick me out a handsome young lady, get married and settle down," replied the youthful octogenarian.

Statue of the "Iron Duke"

In an old beer cellar in Antwerp workmen found a bronze statue. Brought to the light of day it proved to be the likeness of Don Alvarez de Toledo, Duke of Alva, who came to The Netherlands at the command of his master, Philip II of Spain, to exterminate the rebels. He killed and executed hundreds of thousands and finally had a statue cast from the guns captured from William the Silent and his brothers. The statue had never been found in Antwerp, where Alva's fury reached a climax, and its ultimate disposal is in doubt. Popular feeling there and in Holland is still strong against Alva after 300 years. There is not a Dutch boy who does not feel that from a sense of patriotism he is obliged to push his pencil through the eyes of the Duke of Alva in the school history books or the volumes in the public libraries. The Iron Duke was Philip's punishment for a demand for greater liberty. Alva was dreaded and known to be merciless. He really did not feel flattered to be sent against a "people of butter," as he called The Netherlanders. He squeezed the butter, is escaped his mailed fist and beat him and his king in the end.

RIPPLING RHYMES

REDEEMING FEATURE

The merchants say of William Wight,
"He keeps his credit always bright, he pays his bills on time; so what care we if men impute to this pernickety galoot all kinds of sin and crime? Men say he knocks the speed laws cold; he travels, insolent and bold, at an atrocious speed; but when he buys a bale of hay we know that we will get the pay upon the date agreed. When the assessor comes along this William springs a dance and song that knocks the truth askew; so say his critics, but his bills don't cause disaster to our tills—he pays them when they're due. We hear that, greatly to his shame, he sometimes plays a little game of cards with sinful men; but while he's prompt to pay the freight we shall not chide him or berate, and he may play again." Thus men will pardon and explain the little sins of any swain who pays up what he owes; they know he'll pay the charged-up sums and so they bless him when he comes and cheer him when he goes. And it is strange and sad but true that men who dodge the bills long due find no defenders near, when they're accused of this or that, of poisoning a neighbor's cat, of brewing lawless beer. Their moral characters may glow, as stainless as the driven snow on far Alaska's hills, but when we'd hand them wreaths of praise there comes a cry from sullen jays, "They do not pay their bills!"

LETTERS TO The Times

The World Flyers

PASADENA, Aug. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Now that our aviators are on the last stage of their journey about the earth and its North Pole and we are hoping for their safe return, it might be appropriate to call attention to the rare exploit of Nellie Bly, who in 1889 circumnavigated our globe in less than seventy-three days—traveling by railroad trains, steamships and horse-drawn vehicles. Now, with our twentieth-century "flyer," ocean greyhounds and taxicabs, this feat could certainly be accomplished in much less time. What is the advantage to be found in air and aqua planes?

They carry but few passengers, are subject to risks and detentions of every kind.

If the airplane can be developed to a stage of usefulness, why not experiment on dry land; why do these spectacular stunts and risk lives and waste property? To gain the plaudits of the multitude without a doubt.

These accomplishments are on a par with the "discovery" of the Arctic and Antarctic poles, the ascension of Mt. Everest.

To have a human being crushed, frozen or perish from hunger on some foolhardy exploit is a sorry sight and there is a tinge of insanity at the bottom of it all.

I should like some one to reason it out and tell me what he finds.

JOHN H. MATTHEWS.

Wail from the Surf

LONG BEACH, Aug. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like very much to see an editorial in your paper directed at the Council of Long Beach in regard to the proposed wage cut of the city employees.

Such a cut at this time would be very detrimental to all of Southern California, as it does not show prosperity and would be a splendid theme for propaganda from the eastern newspapers.

Sorry I am not in a position to sign my name. AMO.

The Postal Service

CARLSBAD, Aug. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] What is the matter with the postal service in Los Angeles? I have been spending a few days in Los Angeles and while doing so had occasion to have some important letters forwarded to me which were mailed in Carlsbad on Sunday, the 24th inst. The stamp on them is dated 1:30 a.m., August 25, R.P.O. But those letters were not delivered to me just off North Broadway till 11:30 a.m., August 28.

Is it possible that it takes thirty-four hours for a letter to travel from the Santa Fe depot to North Broadway? If so, it's time Los Angeles had a better system of traffic regulation so that the mail service can be handled a little more expeditiously. B. H. WEST.

Time for Pruning

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish to call the attention of your readers to the fact that there are entirely too many dead and arbitrary laws upon our statute books. What I understand by a dead law is a useless one unenforced. An arbitrary one is one discriminatory in its character, working good to some, to the detriment of others and no good to the public.

I don't believe the City Council could serve the interest of the people better than to repeal or amend such laws.

I believe there should be in our Council a nine-tenths repealing committee to one-tenth law-making.

I wish to call your attention to a law that has recently come into effect in regard to oil retainers and tanks. This law requires the same gauge or thickness for a fifty-gallon tank that it does for one of 2000. This is out of harmony with all reason. The gauge or thickness should be in proportion to the resistance and pressure.

To my knowledge there never has been a fire in all the history of Los Angeles the [illegible] was the tanks not [illegible] quirements of this [illegible] there is no occasion for [illegible] it is arbitrary and [illegible] pealed.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

By The Foothill Philosopher

Most of us work so hard preparing for the leisure hours which we expect in the by-and-by that when we do get an opportunity to retire from our strenuous labors, even for a brief period, we find ourselves at a loss as to how to employ our time for genuine pleasure. We plan so greatly to live and spend so little time in living. Perhaps if we would dare to live more fully every hour we should not need to plan so much for living after while.

We continue to expect that in another time and at some other place we shall find those joys that life apparently denies us here and now. Forever we are looking outside of ourselves for beauty, love and truth, while, if we would but turn our eyes inward, we should behold the lilies of heaven and the morning glories of God growing in the gardens of our souls.

In our quest for an abstract truth, which we feel should be all-inclusive and yet something which might be corralled by personal consciousness, we fail to see that truth is ever present with each and all of us in one or more of its wondrous phases. It is probable that no single individual shall ever embrace truth in its entirety. The white arms of truth are always around each and every one of her children, but it is unthinkable—and, to my mind, undesirable—that anyone should ever be allowed to monopolize her.

Every now and then a brilliant writer composes a paragraph or an epigram in an attempt to sum up the meaning of life in a few words. Ingersoll called life "the narrow vale between the cold, barren peaks of two eternities." That is a poetic, though [illegible] ture, but it doesn't [illegible] life. Also, we doubt [illegible] tific as far as it [illegible] couldn't possibly be [illegible] nity. In the second [illegible] stead of being a [illegible] tends the length, [illegible] and height of that [illegible] even if life is but a [illegible] simply to say so [illegible] ception of the beauties [illegible] —of the vine-clad [illegible] the trails, of the [illegible] blooming by the [illegible] of the loves, hopes and [illegible] those who, if but for a [illegible] son, are allowed to [illegible] verdant, sunlit vale. [illegible] fuses to be epigrammed [illegible] grandest epic can give [illegible] of the varied glories of [illegible] verse. JAMES H. [illegible]

STABBING RESULT OF JAIL FIGHT

Mexican Prisoners Principals in Duel in Bakersfield Bastile

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 29.—Jose Bargos, Mexican prisoner at the County Jail was removed to the County Hospital today with a deep knife wound in his side and Demetrino Flores, also a prisoner, was locked in solitary confinement as the result of a battle between the two, which started over a piece of bread.

A long sharp-bladed pocket knife was found in the lavatory of Flores's cell by Jailer Jack Shomate after Flores had been removed.

Screams of the stabbed prisoner brought deputy sheriffs running to the Mexican tank on the first floor of the jail. At first it was thought Flores had run amuck. Other prisoners in the tank were crouched in corners of their cells badly frightened. They dared not interfere when Flores attacked Bargos they said, for fear that he would turn upon them with the deadly weapon.

How the knife was obtained by Flores is a mystery to the authorities.

Conscience is Cause of Term in County Jail

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 27.—After a career of check writing more than two years ago involving more than $600 profits from victims, Bert Shaw of Talbert, was suddenly confronted by his conscience.

Shaw, who was in the County Jail today with his former partner in operations, Harold Melvin, 22 years of age, of Compton, met Constable Jess Elliott on the street in Santa Ana yesterday and, hounded by remorse, unburdened himself to the officer.

"I want to look the world in the face again," Shaw explained.

Melvin, when arrested at Compton last night, was not nearly so enthusiastic for reform. He appeared much disgusted at Shaw's confession, which led to his own trapping.

Shaw told the officer that more than two years ago he and Melvin had passed bogus checks aggregating $600, "Ever since, my conscience has been killing me," he declared.

Shaw, who is an oil worker, pointed out some of the stores he had victimized. He wants to make up the financial losses of his victims, he said.

Ross Field to Observe Day, September 12

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ARCADIA, Aug. 29.—Ceremonies on National Defense Day, Friday, September 12, will be held at Ross Field, by reserve officers, ex-service men and civilians, it was stated today by Lieut. L. P. Kane, commanding officer of Ross Field.

As the day has been planned merely to test the man power of the country in case of an emergency, the plan is to fill up the reserve corps with civilians for this one day, and all unable to attend the ceremonies but willing to volunteer their services in case of an emergency declared so by Congress, are asked to send their names and addresses, ages and vocations to George F. S. Summers, Monrovia. This is requested so that the government may procure and classify the qualifications of the men who would be called upon to serve in case of an emergency.

Lieut. Kane announces that a speaker will discuss the subject of the National Defense Act at Ross Field on that day. American Legion members, all ex-service men, and others interested are invited.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Transaction in Oil Units Ends In Court

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 29.—Waiving his preliminary examination, J. F. Gale of Orange, charged with embezzlement, today pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Department Three of the Superior Court before Judge F. C. Drumm.

The trial date will be fixed tomorrow in Department Two by Judge R. Y. Williams, according to arrangement made today. Attorney R. G. Ames of Anaheim was appointed by the court to defend Gale.

The complaint against Gale, signed by Mrs. Betty Phillipson of Orange, involves the asserted embezzlement of four units of an oil company.

Gale contends, it is said, that he procured the units from another man, who owed him $350, and who gave him the securities to sell, with instructions to give the other man credit for the sum obtained from the sale. He was unaware that the other man was not entitled to possession of the units, he stated.

OFFICERS SEEK KIDNAPED GIRL

Pasadena Mystery Engages Police Force

Victim Hurried Away in Touring Car

Screams Awaken Persons for Several Blocks

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 29.— Pasadena police, under the personal direction of Chief of Police Kelley, are today making a sweeping investigation into one of the most mysterious kidnaping cases that have confronted the officers in years.

At a late hour last night residents in the neighborhood of 135 South Chester avenue were awakened by the shrieks and screams of a young woman who was battling a man in the middle of the street. According to witnesses the girl had been riding in a taxicab when a large touring car overtook the cab and forced it to the curbing. The girl jumped out and endeavored to run, but, witnesses told the police, the driver of the touring car caught her and a struggle ensued.

"Oh, my God! I'm afraid. You're tearing by clothes off. Where are you taking me? My God! Help! Help!" the girl was heard to scream. This was followed by the sound of the young woman's body as it hit the bottom of the touring car. The taxicab immediately sped away to the north, it is said, and the touring car containing the screaming girl went in the opposite direction.

The screams of the girl in the speeding car wakened residents for several blocks in that neighborhood, the police were advised. The young lady was described as being about 22 years of age and pretty. No license number of either car was obtained by witnesses it was declared.

As yet Chief Kelley has not been informed of any girls missing from their homes. Because of the rough treatment given the girl police believe the case to be serious, and are making every effort to clear up the case.

ROBBERIES EXPLAINED

Youth Tells of Robberies and Points Out Houses

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug. 29.—Turned over to the temporary custody of the South Pasadena police because of the congestion in the Pasadena Jail, Walter Ruoff, confessed youthful burglar today related how he and an alleged accomplice, also under arrest, robbed four homes here in June.

The youth pointed out the houses he confessed to burglarizing and gave an accurate description of the loot taken from each, according to Acting Chief of Police Williams. In every case Ruoff's story checked in detail with reports received by the police at the time of the robberies.

Jewelry and clothing, valued at more than $2000, was taken from the homes of E. S. Hahn, criminal lawyer of 1118 Beach street; E. C. Blodgett, 1708 Gillette Crescent; H. W. Therne, 1707 Meridian avenue, and George W. Hall, 1515 Milan avenue, the young prisoner told the police. Most of the stolen goods was "shipped east" for disposition while some was sold in Los Angeles, according to the confession.

In relating his activities here Ruoff implicated Robert Consoline, a prisoner in the Pasadena Jail, with whom he was arrested in a Los Angeles pawn shop Wednesday while trying to dispose of several pieces of jewelry stolen from the home of William Felt in Pasadena.

Youth is Proclaimed Victor in Horseshoe Tournament

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Aug. 29.—Youth was victor today when Robert Nunn, 18-year-old boy of Oxnard was proclaimed the champion horseshoe player of the State of California. In addition to beating 103 other players, many of whom were three times his age, Nunn broke a national record in throwing ringers. His score was 28. The national record was previously held by C. C. Davis of Florida, who threw 26 ringers.

A crowd of approximately 1000 people watched Nunn defeat Vernon Robinson, of Exposition Park in the final game of the tournament this afternoon. The Los Angeles man had a high percentage throughout the tournament and finished but a few points behind the State champion. Nunn won the title last year also.

The annual tournament was held in Central Park one year under the auspices of the Pasadena Tourist Club. Due to the work of Paul O'Brien, club president, the Pasadena tournament was the largest in the history of the game, it was announced. More contestants were entered in the tournament and a larger gallery was attracted than ever before.

Discounts Act of Young Girl Who Saves Life

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 29.—Mortified because he was saved from drowning by a girl, much smaller than himself, 13-year-old Lester Jackson today said the rescue "didn't amount to much."

Plans have been started to secure a hero medal for Priscilla Keyt, aged 13, and Girl Scout of Upland.

The Jackson boy, whose parents said he could not swim, was floating on a plank in the bay off the municipal camp grounds. The log slipped away from him and he sank in the deep channel. Only women and children were in the vicinity. The boy's cries caused the Keyt girl to go to his rescue. She caught him by the back of the neck and brought the exhausted lad to shore in true Scout fashion. She only weighs seventy-eight pounds, while the boy is head and shoulders bigger.

The girl had just taken her second-class test at Upland and affidavits were being prepared today to send to the proper authorities for a life-saving medal. The boy is here with his parents, who reside at 1449 Orange street, Riverside. The girl's mother is Mrs. Amanda F. Keyt.

RAIL BOARD TO HEAR CLAIM FOR DAMAGES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 29.—Property owners, who recently appeared before the City Council to ask settlement for damages which they allege will result if the Union-avenue subway is installed will be given a hearing October 7, by the California State Railroad Commission, according to an order handed down by the commission. Copies of the order were received by City Attorney Brittan from the State board.

The plans for the subway under the Santa Fe tracks have been completed and work was to have started almost immediately when the owners of property adjacent to the subway registered a protest.

The damages asked will amount to considerable cash, according to Assistant City Attorney Brittan, therefore, the city petitioned the Railroad Commission for a hearing. In this way the State board will impartially fix the amounts of the damage claims and also fix the shares to be paid by the city and the railroad company.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 29.—The institution of a pass and commutation ticket service and an increase of 10 cents in fare for single fares has been ordered for the Bakersfield and Kern Electric Street Railway Company by the California Railroad Commission. Notice to this effect was received here today. The pass to be sold for $1 will be good for seven days and the holder can ride as many times as he desires. Any member of the family can use the pass, but it will be good only for passage of the one carrying it. The commutation ticket will permit of seven rides for 50 cents with transfer privileges making the fare, if paid for in this manner, 7½ cents. The new rates will be effective on the street cars and the supplementary service of the busses. While the weekly pass system will be entirely new in Bakersfield it has successfully operated in San Diego and other California cities for a number of years with the result that the revenue of the operating companies has increased.

WHAT WOULD REAL KISS COST?

If Little Peck in Long Beach Dance Hall Brings $30 Fine Valentino, Novarro and Their Ilk Had Better Pack a Wicked Bank Roll on Visits to Oil City

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Aug. 29.—If $30 is the price in Long Beach for a near kiss, just what would dance hall sheiks have to pay for one of those long drawn out soul effusions that Messrs. Valentino, O'Brien, Novarro, etc., thrill film-struck maidens with?

Do not laugh, my brothers. 'Tis a question that now supplants in import that of Councilman Beck's age, for Judge Fred Helwig today established a precedent for all would-be dance hall kissers to be governed by in the future. Now for the story.

The music in the Minnehaha dance hall was of the dreamy Viennese kind that writers rave about. George A. Teas, 29, and handsome in the natty blue of the Coast Guard Service, and Mrs. Julia Dean, a nurse, also 29, and very pretty, waltzed to the entrancing strains of the music.

POLICEWOMAN ON JOB

Perhaps George was dreaming of far-away South Sea places of dusky maidens and the intriguing movements of their dances. Perhaps his pretty companion's eyes—well, anyhow, it happened right there in the middle of the dance hall floor, much to the amazement of Mrs. Ethel Williams, policewoman.

Pursing his lips on which the light down of youth was just appearing, Teas stretched forth his neck and pecked at the red lips of his dancing partner. Came then Mrs. Williamson, her eyes and her badge glittering, and the sailor and the pretty nurse were soon at the Police Station.

"Book these for violation of dance-Hall ordinance, sergeant," Policewoman Williams told Sergt. Miller.

The pair were booked, and released in the sum of $50 bail each, to appear in Police Court today. "I didn't kiss him, your honor, and I didn't let him kiss me."

NURSE TEARFUL

This tearfully from the pretty nurse, as she stood before Judge Helwig's bench, the target for the eyes of a room filled with court hangers-on. "He tried to kiss me, but I drew my face away. That is all the policewoman saw," she explained.

"That's right, Judge," boomed the deep-sea voice of the young sailor, his sense of chivalry touched. "I'm the guy that done that kissing. We was dancing together, and she looked so nice and everything, that I couldn't help it. But, I didn't get nowhere with that girl, judge. Honest, I didn't. She pulled her head away, just like she told you. It's all my fault."

The sailor's chivalry and his explanation fell on barren ground, however, for Judge Helwig found them equally guilty and assessed a fine of $15 on each of them.

All of which brings us back to the question of Long Beach prices for kisses. If a mere peck at a girl's lips costs $30 here, what would one of those—oh, well, bring plenty of money with you, if you get to feeling that way.

Oil Tanker is Given Up as a Total Loss

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Aug. 29.—Failing in the attempt to remove the oil tanker, Orowaitl, from the rocks off Point Sal, near here, during the unusually high tide last night the ship has been given up as a total loss.

The vessel has been almost torn apart by the force of the strain from the repeated efforts to float her and it is feared she will soon break to pieces from the battering of the heavy seas.

It was stated today that the vessel would be turned over to the insurance company and probably would be sold by them to a salvaging concern. The crew of thirty-five men is still aboard the tanker and will remain until the ship is turned over to the insurance company.

The Orowaiti is owned by the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, with the Rolph & Hines Company of San Francisco acting as Pacific Coast agents. She was on her way from Wallington, New Zealand, to Port San Luis in ballast when she ran on the rocks.

POOR AIM SAVES LIFE OF HUSBAND

Divorce Complaint Tells of Short But Quite Eventful Honeymoon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 29.—Faulty feminine marksmanship by his bride of a week was assigned as the only reason for Claude Allen to be alive and able to file his suit for divorce today in the Superior Court here.

Allen alleged in his complaint that when he left his bride in Portland, Or., last December 12, her parting shots—both of them—were from a revolver. Allen's departure was more of an escape, he indicated, declaring that the two bullets whistled close to his ears as he fled from the house.

His bride, whom he had married seven days before, had told him that if he left the house the undertaker would carry him, he said. This made Allen nervous. He watched his chance and when his bride stepped into another room he made a dash for the door.

But she was watchful and quickly opened fire, he said. Her aim was poor, he said, so he evaded the undertaker.

When the Allens were wed, last December 15, they had been previously married to each other and divorced. Their first marriage had been most tumultuous and turbulent, Allen declared, and when they married the second time they took up the quarrel where it had been left off.

The wedding day was one of discord, and on the fourth day, to punctuate an argument, Mrs. Allen is said to have broken an umbrella on her husband's head. By the time the seventh day arrived Allen had concluded it was time to depart, discretion being preferable to valor, his complaint indicated.

Glendale Girls Found After Long Search

Had Left Home to Live in Burbank Hotel

Photographs Made to Aid Budding Stars

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Aug. 29.—Ambitions of two Glendale girls to enter the motion pictures led to their discovery in a Burbank hotel after Police Captain W. A. Loving and Lieut. W. J. Royle had traced them to their hiding place through an emissary they had sent to secure the photographs they had taken by a local photographer as a part of their campaign to seek employment in the studios.

The two girls, Grace Eden, 19 years of age, and Helen Moore, 14, had disappeared from Glendale several days ago, and had been the object of a police search since that time. The charge is being made that Miss Eden had lured the younger girl away from home.

Emmet A. Worley, 416 East Broadway, the photographer, advised the police that the girls were to call for their pictures, and when another girl appeared and asked for them the officers followed her to the hotel in Burbank, where they were staying, and where it was learned they had secured employment in a cannery.

Helen Moore denied the charge that her companion had lured her away from home, and the latter was permitted to remain in Burbank until her father could come for her.

No papers or articles of identification could be found in the pockets.

THE GRAPES LIKE IT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Aug. 29.—This week has been the hottest for the summer in the San Joaquin Valley, the thermometer ranging from 104 to 110 degrees here daily with no change to lower temperature forecast.

The grape growers are pleased, as the picking of fresh muscats for eastern shipment is just getting into full swing and the heat will put more sugar content into the grapes and hasten the raisin-drying season.
